Website promotion, posting articles and press releases

Internet projects Internet marketing Related sites and services. Personal and online notes 342
Internet advertising in simple words is a series of posts. The first contextual advertising then Search engine optimization SEO now the third position website Promotion articles. This series of posts is not for professionals but for those interested. Without terms and in plain language about the different types of Internet advertising. One of the good ways of promoting the website is posting articles and press releases. This way of promotion helps to solve two tasks search engine optimization and PR of Your website product service project, etc. For effective promotion you need to write less water more specific information. The article should not contain too much of keywords but about them do not forget please be sure to include links to the product or service You're advertising a direct link to but not more than 2-3. Publication of articles will affect search engines and the result should get to a higher position in the search results on the subject of the article and therefore with the theme of Your business. The results from this method pretty fast. In Runet there are services which are engaged in the delivery of press releases in the most important industry media and portals are also aggregators of news and press releases and major magazines, regional publications, etc. Built into the work of such services on the topics to the editors of these editions received the target article press releases In Moldname a list of thematic media sites and projects in which to place articles to date can be done manually it will not take much time the Main objective will be to build relationships. Unfortunately the current situation and the situation in Moldova is not possible to have a media business without format paid publications therefore, you must prepare for the hosting costs.
